BARRY UNIVERSITY • PHYSICIAN ASSISTANT PROGRAM

2010 Primary Care Review Course

The Barry University Primary Care Review Course has been specifically designed to assist physician assistant students and physician assistants in their preparation for the certification and recertification exams.

The design of this course closely follows the content blueprint in the selection of topics and overall organization to provide an organized review of the subject matter contained in the certification and recertification exams.

Barry's course will also highlight the major aspects of primary care and will be useful for all primary care health providers and PA students.

Each lecturer will present outlines, objectives, and practice questions for their respective topics organized in a comprehensive syllabus, which is included in the registration fee.
