EDUCATIONAL EFFECTIVENESS
DEGREE: DOCTOR OF MINISTRY

MISSION/PURPOSE

The Doctor of Ministry degree (DMin) at Barry University is an advanced degree for ordained and non-ordained women and men engaged in full-time ministry from a variety of denominations. The program of study leading to the DMin degree prepares experienced ministers for advanced leadership activities and develops analytical skills of theological reflection on specialized ministerial or pastoral practices. The purpose of the Doctor of Ministry degree program is to provide advanced theological reflection on and understanding of ministerial praxis and leadership through the study of practical biblical, systematic/liturgical, and moral theology for minister-leaders in the churches.

PROGRAM GOALS

The Program Goals and Objectives of the Doctor of Ministry degree program are designed to develop theological and ministerial leadership and to enhance the practice of ministry by:

- providing advanced theological study of ministry and reflection on the purposes of particular ministerial practices
- investigating theological issues and ministerial practices in the context of academic study
- examining the praxis of ministry and fostering the knowledge and skills necessary for the development of a clear conception of the church's ministry
- forming a critical understanding of a particular ministerial practice, correlating a theological theory, and proposing a new understanding of that practice for contemporary ministerial needs
- developing those skills and competencies necessary for ministerial leadership
- advancing theological understanding of ministerial praxis.

These goals were developed by faculty in consonance with Mission and Core Commitments of Barry University, with the standards of the Association for Theological Schools, the USCCB document Co-Workers in the Vineyard, and the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

ASSESSMENT METHODOLOGY
Assessment Instrument	Data Collection/ Frequency (assessment cycle)	Objectives assessed	Direct or indirect measure	Expected results
Research/ Application Paper	DMin students in THE 638 (Theology of Ministry) submit a 20-25 page research paper that focuses in greater depth on ONE issue in the theology of ministry. The paper includes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Introduction of the ministerial/pastoral issue or praxis that stimulated the student's interest in his/her selected topic. • Scholarly research that adequately addresses the ministerial/pastoral issue. • Explanation of how the student's theological research specifically applies to or addresses the ministerial question or situation. • Proposal concerning the relevance of the student's research to the ecclesial or religious context of which s/he is a member. • Description of how the conclusions reached concerning the local issue might apply to the broader church or to other ecclesial or cultural contexts. This course is offered every two years in the Fall semester or in the Summer Residency.	1, 2, 3, 6	Direct	70% of students score 4 or more per Objective assessed on a 5-point rubric.
Theological Reflection	DMin students in THE 800A (Fundamentals of Practical Theology) write a 5-7 page theological reflection on a ministerial situation using one of the seven methods of practical theology studied in this course with a rationale for choosing a particular method. The reflection is reviewed and critiqued by a peer from a cultural or religious context other than that of the student. When the critique has been returned, the student incorporates the critique and submits a copy to each instructor, along with the peer critique. In the reflection the students: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> a. Describes the ministerial question of concern. b. Describes the ministerial situation that provoked the question. 	1, 2, 3, 6	Direct	70% of students score 4 or more per Objective assessed on a 5-point rubric.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> c. Names the method used to reflect on this ministerial experience and the reasons for selecting this method. d. Works through each phase of the method with regard to the ministerial situation, making the ministerial situation accessible to the reader. e. Suggests possible historical, sociological sources; empirical tools; and systematic moves to use to help understand and explain the situation. f. Proposes a renewed praxis coming from the process. g. Provides an evaluation of the method. This course is offered annually in the Winter Residency and is taken by students in the first year of their program.
Thesis Project Proposal	DMin students in THE 800 (Integrative Seminar) prepare a Thesis-Project Proposal to demonstrate the development of an advanced understanding of the nature and purposes of ministry and a mastery of practical theology methodology. It must be correlated to the students' ministry and to their ecclesial ministerial tradition. The Thesis-Project Proposal should be a simple text of no more than ten (10) pages, double-spaced, which states the ministry, purpose, method, and evaluation intended for the thesis-project. As a practical theology methodology, the proposal must reflect a praxis-theory-praxis-movement. The proposal follows this methodology by critically (i.e., hermeneutically) engaging a ministerial practice, its cultural context, and a religious tradition in a critical conversation to renew, reclaim, or reform that practice and the religious tradition. Approval of the Thesis-Project Proposal is accomplished through Thesis-Project Proposal Defense before a community of scholars and peers. The defense of the thesis-project incorporates the subject matter and the use of practical theology inclusive of a theological discipline(s) in the development of the thesis-project. The process is as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a) The thesis-project proposal and initial IRB protocol are distributed to the Proposal Defense Committee for their review no less than two weeks before the defense date. b) Proposal Defense Session Format (duration: 1 hour) 	2, 3, 4, 6	Direct	80% of students score 4 or more per Objective assessed on a 5-point rubric.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. Introduction and explanation of Proposal Defense procedure (Director of the DMin Program). ii. The mentor 1) identifies how the thesis-project proposal meets the criteria (4.a-b above), which practical theology and which discipline-specific theology are engaged, what research methodology will be used (e.g., for research with human subjects), and 2) facilitates the session. iii. Open examination of the thesis-project proposal by the Proposal Defense Committee with questions posed to the student. iv. Following examination, the student is asked to step out of the defense. v. The Thesis-Project Proposal Committee, after consultation with the other members of the Proposal Defense Committee, determines to approve the thesis-project proposal, approve with revisions, or deny approval. vi. The student is brought back to the defense and the results announced. c) If the Thesis-Project Proposal is approved or approved with revisions the student is promoted to Candidate for the Doctor of Ministry degree. d) If the Thesis-Project Proposal is denied, a student may re-submit a proposal within one year's time from the date of the defense. After successful defense of the Thesis Proposal, the Candidate prepares and submit the Protocol for Research with Human Subjects with the Institutional review Board of Barry University. Studies involving human subjects as research participants through discussion groups, or as subjects of research, must meet all the requirements of Barry University's policies regarding research with human subjects and must be approved by the Institutional Review Board (IRB) before research begins. The candidate is responsible for following the research protocols of the IRB, published in "Guidelines for Submitting Research Protocols."

MATCH BETWEEN ASSESSMENT INSTRUMENTS AND LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Course Embedded Assessment (CEA): The rationale for the use of course embedded assessment to evaluate competency in each of the Student Objectives is threefold. First, CEA makes explicit and practical connections among the DMin Program Goals, the DMin Core Curriculum, and the specific Student Learning Outcomes that the effective ministerial leadership demands. Second, CEA requires that course content and assignments explicitly address and reinforce the Objectives designed to advance students’ theological and ministerial competency. Third, CEA ensures that these Objectives are assessed multiple times at different intervals during the student’s course of study in order to monitor progress in developing each of the Objectives and remediate as needed. The following describes the explicit connection in the course(s) between the assignments and the objectives assessed.

BARRY UNIVERSITY
DEPARTMENT OF THEOLOGY AND PHILOSOPHY

- THE 638: The 20-25 page research paper on a particular issue in the theology of ministry includes a ministerial/pastoral issue or praxis which the student engages through scholarly research (Objective 1) with a clear explanation of how the student's theological research specifically applies to or addresses the ministerial question or situation (Objective 3). The student then proposes the relevance of the student's research to the ecclesial or religious context of which s/he is a member (Objective 2) and describes how the conclusions reached concerning the local issue might apply to the broader church or to other ecclesial or cultural contexts (Objective 6).
- THE 800A: The theological reflection on a ministerial situation uses one of the seven methods of practical theology with a rationale for choosing a particular method (Objective 2). The reflection includes a particular ministerial question which the student works through using a chosen method of practical theology (Objective 3), subjects that reflection to critique by another students representing a different religious or cultural context (Objective 6), suggests possible historical and sociological sources in relation to systematic theology (Objective 1), and evaluates the method in response to its outcome (Objective 3).
- THE 800: The Thesis-Project Proposal demonstrates the development of an advanced understanding of the nature and purposes of ministry (Objective 2) and a mastery of practical theology methodology (Objective 3). It must be correlated to the students' ministry and to their ecclesial ministerial tradition. The proposal follows this methodology by critically (i.e., hermeneutically) engaging a ministerial practice, its cultural context, and a religious tradition in a critical conversation to renew, reclaim, or reform that practice and the religious tradition (Objective 6). The Thesis-Project Proposal Defense demonstrates before a community of scholars and peers, the defense of the thesis-project subject matter and the use of practical theology inclusive of a theological discipline(s) in the development of the thesis-project (Objective 4).
- THE 802A/B: These two courses, combined with ongoing engagement with the Director of Doctoral Ministerial Formation are designed to equip students for competent leadership in diverse communities of faith (Objectives 5 and 6). Competency is demonstrated through successful completion of the two required courses described above, as well as the completion of a 10 page paper integrating personal and ministerial context (thick description) with the skills and competencies developed throughout the formation process including academic knowledge, ethical values, and practical application of theological methods with a focus toward a ministerial praxis (Objectives 2 and 3).

Thesis Project: The thesis-project represents the candidate's ability to integrate both the theoretical and practical dimensions of theological research (Objectives 1, 2, and 3). The thesis-project should demonstrate competent application of appropriate theological research methods and ethical guidelines in the investigation of the ministerial praxis (Objective 5). This research needs to be correlated to the candidate's ministerial context (Objective 6) under the guidance and supervision of the candidate's thesis-project mentor and the committee who guide the thesis-project. When completed, the Thesis Project in Ministry is printed and bound for the Barry University Library and the Department of Theology and Philosophy and submitted to UMI for publication (Objective 4).

Demonstrates awareness of the implications of theological and cognate research in relation to ministerial issues/praxes; gives some evidence of reflection on the relation between theory and praxis for this project.	Exhibits minimal evidence of relating theological or cognate research to ministerial issues/ praxes; reflects little awareness of the relation between theory and praxis.
